

Online Ethics Center
FOR ENGINEERING AND SCIENCE

Resources from the International Neuroethics Society

Description

These resources are available directly via the International Neuroethics Society.

Body

Opportunities in Neuroethics

The new Neuroethics Response Action Task Force composed and sent a letter July 29 to the NIH in response to a request for information regarding "Guidance for Opportunities in Neuroethics \(NIH BRAIN Initiative\)."

Neuroethics Experts Bureau

This is a list of International Neuroethics Society members that have identified themselves as experts in specific areas of neuroethics and agree to receive queries from the press, requests to be a mentor, consultations with other professionals, or other questions related to their expertise.

<http://www.neuroethicssociety.org/experts>

Neuroethics Education Resources

With the help of its members, INS maintains this list of neuroethics teaching resources for students, educators, administrators, researchers, and others interested in neuroethics and neuroscience.

<http://www.neuroethicssociety.org/education-resources>

Neuroethics Events

The INS maintains this running list of events, workshops, and conferences related to neuroethics.

<http://www.neuroethicssociety.org/events>

Neuroethics Books

This is a list of books authored by members of the INS.

<http://www.neuroethicssociety.org/books>

Resource Type

Bibliography

Topics

Human Enhancement

Public Health and Safety

Discipline(s)

Neuroscience and Neurobiology
Life and Environmental Sciences